

GOULEYANT GAILLAC

Grape-growing in Gaillac goes back to around the time of Christ. Distinctive native grapes, like Loin de l'Oeil, remain popular. Vigouroux blends this lush fruity grape with Sauvignon Blanc for a lively white that can stand up to the rich local food like duck and pork sausage. Works well with chowder too!

GOULEYANT GAILLAC

Grape-growing in Gaillac goes back to around the time of Christ. Distinctive native grapes, like Loin de l'Oeil, remain popular. Vigouroux blends this lush fruity grape with Sauvignon Blanc for a lively white that can stand up to the rich local food like duck and pork sausage. Works well with chowder too!

GOULEYANT GAILLAC

Grape-growing in Gaillac goes back to around the time of Christ. Distinctive native grapes, like Loin de l'Oeil, remain popular. Vigouroux blends this lush fruity grape with Sauvignon Blanc for a lively white that can stand up to the rich local food like duck and pork sausage. Works well with chowder too!

GOULEYANT GAILLAC

Grape-growing in Gaillac goes back to around the time of Christ. Distinctive native grapes, like Loin de l'Oeil, remain popular. Vigouroux blends this lush fruity grape with Sauvignon Blanc for a lively white that can stand up to the rich local food like duck and pork sausage. Works well with chowder too!